GUARDING YOUNG LIVES

Uniformed school guards are back on the streets now that school days have begun again here in Kelowna. This scene at Raymer Elementary School has been repetitious all over the city as girls and boys took to the streets to help move traffic and protect the lives of their fellow students. School guards assist immensely to remove the threat of children being hit on busy streets while on their way to and from school. (Courier Photo)

HURRICANE FURY

Edith Builds Up Powerful Punch Against Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Edith spun through the Caribbean with steadily growing fury today and the National Hurricane Centre said she would become a dangerous storm before reaching a landfall.

"Edith will be a major storm, maybe the storm of the year," said Dr. Robert H. Simpson, director of the centre. "She has a classical eye and is intensifying. She is going to pose a real threat to someone."

With Edith, Tropical Storm Fern and a deepening depression all on the hurricane hunter's maps, Simpson said the western Caribbean, the entire Gulf of Mexico, and the Bahamas area of the Atlantic had become "one great big mammoth circulating system."

"It is a very, very unusual situation," he said. "The entire area is one great big cyclonic storm, so to speak."

Father Accused Of Killing 4

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A truck driver has been accused of killing four of his five children and then asking a television station to announce their deaths so his wife would come home.

Sheriff Harold Willetts said Robert Atlas Johnson, 47, of Wilmington was charged with four counts of murder and one of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill his fifth child. Police said Johnson led officers to a wooded area where the five children, aged 3 to 9, were lying in a row. Two girls and a boy were dead and another boy died afterward in hospital.

NOVA SCOTIA A-G NOW MUST WALK

HALIFAX (CP) — Attorney-General Leonard Pace of Nova Scotia, stopped by the RCMP at Broadway, N.S. Monday, was fined $29 after pleading guilty Tuesday night to a charge of speeding.

The attorney-general's driver's licence was suspended for seven days.

Dief Reported 'Comfortable'

LONDON (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker was described as "comfortable" today in a hospital in Wales where he was brought Tuesday after being taken ill while holidaying.

"He is being investigated for an abdominal disorder and is likely to remain in hospital for a few days longer," said a bulletin from the Maelor General Hospital in Wrexham, Denbigh County.

The 75-year-old Diefenbaker, Canada's prime minister between 1957 and 1962, was expected to undergo tests later today.

Survival Course Fatal For Two

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The body of a second member of an Outward Bound program expedition has been found in the Three Sisters wilderness area of central Oregon.

The body of Lorene LaRhethe, 17, of Sudbury, Mass., was discovered Tuesday near the spot where Mrs. Glen Howden, 21, of Fall Creek, Ore., died Thursday.

A third girl, Pam Sullivan, 18, of Seattle, survived. Miss Sullivan told searchers she had wandered away from the group when the three were hit by a storm during an expedition concluding their course in the Outward Bound program of survival training.

William Richards, associate director of Outward Bound, said the program's trustees would appoint a board to review the case.

Glut Faces B.C. Docks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Talks between Vancouver longshoremen and the British Columbia Maritime Employers' Association continue today against a background of reduced work on the docks and a threatened cargo glut.

All dock work has been reduced to six day shifts a week as a result of a dispute between the two sides. Normally, there is round-the-clock work, 21 shifts a week.

Louis Kaufman, president of the Vancouver local of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said the dockers put a three-point proposal to the association Tuesday:

—Registered gangs should be assigned to night work, as under the previous agreement between the two sides;

—The association should not instruct its member companies not to place orders for night work when such work is available;

—The association should not cancel night work without agreement between the two sides or proper notice to the union.

"Really, all we're asking is that they live up to the previous agreement," said Mr. Kaufman.

Soviet Seaman's Case Aired

VANCOUVER (CP) — An immigration hearing was on here today on the bid of a Soviet seaman to remain in Canada after a marathon swim from a Soviet trawler to the rocky shores of the Queen Charlotte Islands in northern British Columbia.

Serge Kourdakov, 20, an officer cadet in the Soviet armed forces, was flown to Vancouver Tuesday from Prince Rupert, where he had been detained since Saturday. He made the direct flight unescorted.

Kourdakov, who worked as a radio operator, jumped ship just after midnight Saturday as his vessel lay at anchor with 10 others about a half-mile offshore in Tasu Sound on Moresby Island.

A COURT TALE...

Pang Poorer, But World Richer

LONDON (AP) — Nyuk Pang was poorer by $200 today, but the world was richer for the story of the first time he drove an automobile.

It's a tale of a Chinese waiter who doesn't speak English crashing a French car into a bus driven by an Indian. And that's only part of it.

Magistrates in the British town of Rochester gave up trying to look serious as this story unfolded in court.

Nyuk, the 19-year-old waiter, borrowed the Renault car and went for a joyride down Rochester's busy main street. In due course, he found himself running backwards down a hill and into the double-decker bus driven by Sahid Rahman.

The Indian backed off and got out to remonstrate with the Chinese, but quickly found himself in language difficulties. While he was trying to make himself understood, Nyuk reversed into the bus again.

Then his car shot forward and entered a one-way street —the wrong way, of course—heading directly for a policeman on a motorcycle.

Inspector Mike Percy told the court: "The motorcycle officer had to swerve violently to avoid a head-on collision."

On drove Nyuk Pang, gaining confidence. He turned unerringly into another one-way street, the wrong way again, and his car stalled with the clutch almost burned out. Nyuk's biggest mistake was about to happen.

He began pushing the auto, forgetting that it was on a steep downward slope called Star Hill. The car picked up speed and ran away from him.

Passers-by watched Nyuk chasing the car, waving his arms, but failing to catch up before it crashed into the offices of the local Conservative party.

In court, he pleaded guilty to 11 separate offences and handed over the $200 fine. He admitted taking the car after his owner had lent him the keys.

Schreyer Raps His Ministers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Premier Ed Schreyer placed a stern hand on the reins of his cabinet Tuesday, reminding Highways Minister Joe Borowski for his personal attack on abortion and threatening expulsion for those guilty of intolerance and public insubordination.

Mr. Schreyer said in his strongest yet statement of authority: "I do not readily accept—I will not accept—a course of action to be followed by one of my ministers which calls into question the rights, sincerity and conviction of a person who holds an opinion which is markedly different."

A statement has been sent to ministers warning that public policy disagreements will no longer be tolerated.

"Anyone who can't abide by it," said Mr. Schreyer, "I expect they will resign."

The premier spoke to a delegation of 25 patients of Winnipeg's Mount Carmel Clinic who were demanding an apology for remarks by Mr. Borowski about the clinic and its director, Anne Ross.

Mr. Borowski criticized the clinic for referring patients to New York for therapeutic abortions, legal there on demand, and the United Way of Greater Winnipeg and the provincial government for supporting the clinic financially. He later issued a memorandum to employees of his department urging them to withhold United Way contributions after both cabinet and United Way rejected his argument for cutting funds.

Mr. Schreyer said he is "willing to accept a far greater degree of expression of personal opinion from cabinet ministers" than is traditional, "but we will not accept such expression of personal view that is in itself intolerant."

Mr. Borowski's memo, he said, contradicts government policy and "is herewith countermanded... voided."

Mr. Schreyer said his colleagues "feel Mount Carmel Clinic and the United Way are worth continued and increased support."

He described the clinic, which receives about $45,000 yearly from the province and $50,000 from the United Way, as a classical charity service to those people who cannot afford the services they require.

Mr. Borowski said in an interview he will not retract his statements or memo.

"There is nothing in the world to prevent them (the cabinet) from firing me," he said.

Peace Feelers Prove Failure

BULLETIN NEW YORK (Reuter) — Irish Republican Army leader Joseph Cahill was ordered today excluded from the United States and sent back to Ireland. Cahill's lawyer said he would not lodge an appeal.

BELFAST (AP) — British troops went on special alert in Northern Ireland today after five bombs exploded in the province. The outlawed Irish Republican Army warned of a new terrorist offensive and Roman Catholic opposition leaders turned down a peace feeler from the British government.

Extra army patrols moved through Londonderry and Belfast—where five persons were injured by overnight explosions that damaged an army veterans' club, a factory and other targets—and Britain's top soldier flew in from London to review military security.

The blasts ended a brief bombing lull on the eve of a threat by gunman of the Irish Republican Army to increase violence unless all political detainees are released and Belfast's Parliament is dissolved by midnight tonight.

As the deadline approached, some schools in Londonderry closed so 500 children could attend mass at St. Eugene's Cathedral for the 100th victim of violence in the north—14-year-old Annette McGavigan. She was shot in the head Monday in a battle between British troops and guerrilla gunmen.

The British peace initiative was announced in London Tuesday night after two days of summit talks between Prime Ministers Edward Heath of Britain and Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic.

The talks ended in dispute over ways to end bloodshed in the north.

Britain rebuked Lynch today for saying after the talks that Heath had not offered to hold more talks between the two leaders and Prime Minister Brian Faulkner of Northern Ireland.

In a rare move following confidential discussions, Heath's office issued a statement insisting that such three-sided talks had definitely been suggested "but Mr. Lynch said he could not take part."

The peace feeler from the summit talks was an invitation by Home Secretary Reginald Maudling to all parts of Northern Ireland's feuding communities to a conference.

Russians May Be Preparing Manned Mission To Moon

HOUSTON (Reuter) — Recent Soviet space shots suggest the Russians may be preparing for their first manned mission to the moon—which could come after America's final lunar landing trip in December next year.

This view was put forward by Dr. Charles Sheldon of the Library of Congress in Washington, but he added that the balance of evidence leaned towards a moon orbital flight only—with no lunar landing.

Sheldon is the foremost U.S. expert on the Soviet space program.

Russia's maiden moon mission might seem anti-climactic, coming some four years or more after the first American set foot on the moon. Sheldon sees it as part of an ambitious long-range plan to land cosmonauts on the planet Mars.

"A Russian manned landing on Mars could come as early as 1980," he said in a telephone interview Tuesday night.

"But I would say that some time around 1986 is more likely."

The U.S. has no plans at present for a manned landing on Mars, known as the red planet and currently the destination for one American and two Soviet unmanned probes.

Evidence that Russia is preparing for a manned moon shot to follow up its series of robot lunar missions comes from close examination of the performance of four unmanned Cosmos space vehicles launched during the last 10 months.

Western experts say the last one—Cosmos 334, launched Aug. 12—tried out a throttle rocket much like the Apollo spacecraft's main engine.

The engine was several times more powerful than those aboard the Soyuz spacecraft which cosmonauts ride into earth orbit. Cosmos 334, like its apparent predecessors in the moon program—Cosmos 379 (Nov. 24), 382 (Dec. 2) and 398 (Feb. 26)—was launched into an initial earth orbit of 51 degrees inclination to the Equator.

This is the favored orbit for Soviet manned launchings and at least two of the vehicles then soared more than 8,000 miles into space.

U.S. Deficit Up

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Treasury Secretary John Connally forecast today a United States budget deficit of between $27 billion and $28 billion in the financial year ending next June 30. This compares with a deficit of $23.242 billion for the 1971 financial year.

'Copters To Help

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — Indian army helicopters stood by today to airdrop food supplies to strikers in areas of Uttar Pradesh, swept by monsoon floods cutting a swathe of death and destruction across 1,000 miles of northern and eastern India.

Buses Stoned

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Renewed violence was reported at strikebound Texaco Ltd. today and a company official warned that the manufacturer of hospital supplies might close its plant. Picketing members of the Canadian Textile and Chemical Workers' Union stoned three buses bringing non-union workers from Hamilton.

Grits Hope New Subsidies Will Pierce U.S. Markets

OTTAWA (CP) — The government hopes a subsidy program for industry will help Canadian exporters pierce new U.S. trade restrictions, Opposition M.P.s have their doubts.

Legislation to establish the subsidy program—covering up to two-thirds of the special U.S. import surtax—occupied the Commons throughout most of its first sitting Tuesday after the summer recess.

Argument was to resume today on Bill C-262, "an act to support employment in Canada by mitigating the disruptive effect on Canadian industry of the imposition of foreign import surtaxes or other actions of a like effect."

The bill would allocate $80 million for subsidies to Canadian export industries harmed by the 10-per-cent U.S. surtax and $300,000 for a seven-man board to administer the program. Both sums would cover the program for the remainder of the fiscal year ending next March 31.

Manufacturing or processing plants which have exported at least one-fifth of their production to U.S. markets would qualify for subsidies if the U.S. au-tax were jeopardizing production and employment. Eligible plants could receive up to two-thirds of the surtax that would be applicable on their exports to the United States.

Opposition parties agreed to waive other business and debate the new bill immediately. But they expressed doubts about its adequacy and motive.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield charged that the bill served too limited a purpose and did nothing to deal with high unemployment existing before the Aug. 15 measures.

David Lewis, leader of the New Democratic Party, said the government was being deceitful in pretending that $80 million in subsidies would save what he said would amount to 70,000 jobs.

Social Credit Leader Real Caquette said it is baloney to try to blame the United States for Canadian unemployment, then put up $80 million as a cure. Instead, he said, the government should repeal the 12-per-cent federal tax on manufactured goods to stimulate the economy.

Max Saltman (Waterloo), NDP financial critic, said the basic problem stemmed from the government's failure to free Canada from virtually complete economic dependence on the United States.

Victoria, Doctors At 'Compromise'

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced in Victoria Tuesday the British Columbia government and the medical profession have reached a compromise on the government's regulation of medical laboratories. Mr. Bennett said that as a result of negotiations by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and representatives of the medical profession, "improvements" have been made in the wording of a cabinet order which was passed earlier this summer.

A black city councillor in Los Angeles said Tuesday that Senator Edmund Muskie told black leaders during a private meeting he would not favor a Negro on his ticket should he run for United States president. City Councilman Thomas Bradley said he asked Muskie during a discussion of the issues if he would accept a Negro on the ticket as a vice-presidential pick. Muskie said the Maine Democrat replied: "No. If I want to win, to do some good, that isn't the way to do it."

A bill giving citizens the right to sue to protect the environment has been signed into law by Gov. Francis W. Sargent in Boston. "It has been a long struggle to convince industry that the legislation will not breed a rash of frivolous suits," Sargent said. The bill permits groups of no less than 10 Massachusetts residents to file suit in Superior Court against anyone who has damaged the environment or is about to.

Bail was set at $2,000 Tuesday when Stephen John Jolley, 21, of Surrey appeared in Langley court on two charges of rape. Preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 2. The charges allege that Jolley picked up two 14-year-old hitchhikers and forced them at knifepoint to the back of a van he was driving. Police said the two girls, both from Surrey, later walked nude into a nearby trailer court looking for help.

The British Columbia government Tuesday in Victoria ordered a public inquiry into the Aug. 7 disturbance in the Gastown area of Vancouver. A cabinet order-in-council named Justice T. A. Doherty of the British Columbia Supreme Court as commissioner of the inquiry. He will report his findings to the provincial cabinet.

William P. Bundy, a former undersecretary of state, says in New York the United States' new economic measures could be a "dynamic" abroad in a Newsweek magazine. Bundy says that President Nixon's economic program, which includes a 10-per-cent additional levy on dutiable imports, "looks like exporting real political trouble to the north."

King Hussein proclaimed a one-party political system in Jordan Tuesday, and sent a five-man delegation to a "reconciliation meeting" with Palestinian-Arab guerrilla leaders in Saudi Arabia. Following the lead of Egypt and several other Arab states, Hussein banned Communists from Jordanian political activity and established the Jordanian National League as the only authorized party.

About 100 guests fled their rooms Tuesday when a fire started in a television set destroyed a fifth-floor room in the Inn of the North, Prince George. Assistant manager Gerhard Felgenhauer said all the hotel's guests were asked to leave while city firemen contained the blaze. The entire fifth floor of the 10-storey hotel suffered extensive smoke damage.

Alvin Raymond Johnston, 29, of Surrey was accidentally shot and killed Monday while on a hunting excursion in the Dunn

Lake area near Clearwater. He apparently was hit when another member of the party shot at a deer.

A leader of the Irish Republic Army said Tuesday that the British have "raped" Northern Ireland and that the people have the right to retaliate if British soldiers kill civilians. Joseph Cahill was testifying at a U.S. immigration hearing in New York on whether or not he will be able to remain in the United States. He arrived here from Dublin Sept. 1, and has been in custody of the immigration department. His visa has been revoked. Cahill told the hearing "the British army has absolutely raped our country... holding our country in bondage and killing our people."

Brantford, Ont., police have summoned a man in connection with the smashing of a car window in a picket line incident Tuesday afternoon at the strike-bound Texaco Ltd. plant. Johannes Veenhorst of Toronto, was charged with possession of a weapon dangerous to the public peace. A seven-foot chain was seized.

President Nixon launched a new drive Tuesday to crack down on international drug trafficking. He declared in a memorandum to State Secretary William P. Rogers that drug addiction had reached crisis proportions in the United States and it was imperative that the flow of drugs into the country be halted as soon as possible.

Burma is paying for part of a British-made power station with rice. The builders, John Brown Engineering Co., said Tuesday two-thirds of a $7.68 million power-plant contract will be paid in rice. The British foreign office is to put up the rice purchase money and send the grain to India to help feed Pakistani refugees.

A rare skin disease, eased only when the body is wrapped in white silk cloth, has claimed the life in Seattle of a three-month-old Lewiston, Idaho boy. Travis McFall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. McFall, was buried Tuesday, one week after being given a blood transfusion in a Seattle hospital for epidermolysis bullosa dystrophica.

A pickup truck crammed with students on their way to school Tuesday collided with another truck and slammed into a power pole, killing two and injuring at least 18. RCMP said the truck was driven by Derek Dulmage of Burnaby. The dead were identified as Michael Karpins, 15, and David Robert Welsh, 16, both of Burnaby.

Malta Again Lowers Boom

VALETTA (Reuter) — Malta has banned duty-free fuel for foreign military forces on the island following what the government called stalemate in financial talks with Britain over use of defence bases.

The decision, announced in an official statement Tuesday night, particularly affects the RAF whose reconnaissance planes based here keep watch on Soviet warships in the Mediterranean.

The department of information said: "A stalemate has been reached between the Maltese and British governments in financial talks."

"As a first step, the government is withholding duty-free fuel for foreign forces in these islands."

The announcement did not indicate what further measures might be undertaken by the newly-elected Labor government of Prime Minister Dom Mintoff, who wants Britain to pay more for her use of land, sea and air bases on Malta. Mintoff wants a revision of a 10-year defence and finance agreement with Britain, due to expire in 1974. He has declared this void, seeking a considerable increase in the annual British payment of $12 million in return for access to base facilities. In negotiations last month, Britain, in a agreement with NATO, put forward a package offer of $24 million a year in cash and development aid for annual use of the bases.

Common Drunks 'Really Sick'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Common drunks would be treated as sick persons rather than petty criminals under legislation approved by the California Senate and sent to the Assembly.

The bill would require intoxicated persons taken into custody to be put in a county sobering-up station or clinic rather than in jail.

The bill, approved 31-4 by the Senate Tuesday, would apply to simple public intoxication cases, not drunken driving.

DITCH CLEANING

This was the scene of activity on Weddell Place today as a hydraulic backhoe dug debris from Brent's Creek along the side of the road: This type of work is a regular maintenance chore that occurs twice in the year in spring and fall. The philosophy behind the work is to create and maintain an even flow in the ditch, one of the main ones in Kelowna, and other similar ditch-creeks in the area. (Courier Photo)

Hotel Planned For Rutland Could Be Built At Once

If a plebiscite seeking opinion on whether liquor can be sold from licensed outlets in Rutland results in the affirmative, construction on a 30-room hotel and swimming pool would probably begin almost immediately.

Aphonse (Al) Lukowsky, who has been planning the project for more than three years, said today there is apparently a 30-day waiting period following such a referendum.

"After that, we will go ahead immediately," he said, "if the voters approve." Construction would be on Belgo road across from the bowling alley in the business center of Rutland.

Mr. Lukowsky said he expects to be talking with Liquor Control Board officials this week and could maybe have more details by the weekend.

The hotel would provide liquor lounge and beer parlor facilities.

The plebiscite, to be held Oct. 4, was announced Tuesday by government agent Bert Manson who said there are now 5,453 voters registered and eligible to vote on the question in the Rutland-Belgo area.

He said there should be close to 6,000 by the registration deadline Sept. 15.

In the last such plebiscite in February, 1955, there were only 1,558 eligible voters and only 552 voted with the hard core opposed to any form of liquor.

The question of a beer parlor fell short of the 55 per cent required with about 44 per cent voting approval. Slightly more than 40 per cent wanted beer or wine with their meals about 38 per cent wanted liquor with their food.

The fourth question, pertaining to a liquor lounge, was also defeated with slightly under 40 per cent voting in the affirmative.

At that time, the same questions were asked of voters in unorganized territories throughout the South Okanagan electoral district and licensing was rejected in most areas including Ellison, Benvoulin, East Kelowna, Westbank, Winfield, and Okanagan Centre.

In South Kelowna, however, the nearly 200 voters who cast ballots showed they favored liquor with their meals but rejected the beer parlor concept.

To be eligible to vote, residents must have lived in Canada for the past 12 months, in B.C. for the past six months, be a British subject or Canadian citizen and be at least 19 years old.

Registration centres have been set up at 145 Belgo Road and the Kelowna Court House.

Indiscriminate Pill Popping Could Be Deadly Pastime

By GEORGE WHITELEY
Courier Staff

Not all drug addicts are criminals. Some of them are plain, ordinary people—like you.

Americans are the biggest pill-poppers in the world, and we in Canada, with our inclination to follow the United States, are not far behind.

Pills are designed to help people but, when taken indiscriminately, perhaps with other medicines, alcohol or rich food, they can be deadly.

Last year in the U.S., more than a billion drug prescriptions were filled. That is five for each man, woman and child in that country, twice as many as 10 years ago.

Many people take vitamin, tranquilizer and birth control pills by habit, just as they clean their teeth. They do not think of them as medicine, so never tell a doctor about them.

The old family doctor knew what medicine everyone in the family took. Now people hop from doctor to doctor, each one prescribing different medicine.

One woman consulted six specialists. Each prescribed a tranquilizer, and she religiously took them all. Result: a visit to another doctor for her inability to stay awake.

Not admitting one's medical problems is a common cause of adverse reactions when there is fear, anger, tension or stress. Even more complex cases of adverse reactions are caused by the interaction of different drugs. Prescribed for alcoholism, comas, and other purposes.

Most drugs are metabolized by the liver. Alcohol, however, is metabolized by the stomach, which, in going for a cocktail party, turns, promotes more rapid absorption of the drug.

Aspirin, the seemingly most innocuous drug, is anything but, if taken indiscriminately.

TOLERANCE
Age, weight, sex and genetic factors affect drug tolerance. Babies are particularly sensitive to drugs because their liver enzymes are missing altogether or not very active.

As many as 200 drugs, phenobarbital the most common, speed up metabolism by increasing the synthesis of enzymes. Phenobarbital thus can make a second drug less effective.

Drugs like allopurinol (zyloprim) for gout, and nortriptyline (asenyl) for depression, inhibit enzyme production, making other drugs more toxic.

When drugs that act on the central nervous system are mixed with alcohol, the results can be deadly. Yet many people think nothing of "drinking and drugging."

The kind of alcohol, speed of drinking it, and the food eaten with it affect the body reaction to other drugs. The higher the concentration of alcohol in the blood, the faster it is absorbed.

SEEN and HEARD

City officials have not finished checking and tabulating the signatures on petitions that have been circulating concerning the admission of Orchard Park into the city. If 800 signatures are authenticated on the petitions the matter will have to go to a vote. Tabulation of the signatures to check for duplication and legality, is only half done at this point and will be completed in time for a report to city council Monday. Approximately 1,200 names were turned in protesting the boundary extension.

Okanagan residents appear to be a day behind in their information on current events. Three pertinent officials contacted today for comment on Premier Bennett's announcement on government subsidies for jobs for welfare workers expressed complete ignorance of the statement made in Victoria.

Keepsake rings and brooches, lucky sixpence and family Bibles and prayer books are the usual articles used by brides who like to keep the sentiment of "something old—something new" rhyme. One recent Kelowna bride's choice of something old, departed from the trend—she carried a knife. Do you suppose the groom got the point?

Is there a 12-year-old thespian in the house? The Kelowna Little Theatre is looking for a boy in that age group for its upcoming production "A Thousand Clowns". Casting for the play takes place Monday and Tuesday at the Bijou Theatre, Bertman Street, at 7:30 p.m.

71 Caravan Here Friday

The British Columbia Centennial 71 Caravan will be located for viewing on the East parking lot in Kelowna City Park Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10, 11 and 12.

From 1 to 3:30 p.m. next Friday viewing the caravan will be reserved for supervised classes from School District No. 23. Afterwards it will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The following Saturday and Sunday the caravan will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

There is no admission charge and, although children are encouraged to visit the Caravan, they must be accompanied by a responsible adult.

The caravan, consisting of three 40 foot trailers, will also show this region in Peachland Sept. 8, Rutland Sept. 9 and Winfield Sept. 14.

Minor Calls Answered

Three minor fires comprised the business of the Kelowna Fire Department Tuesday.

Firemen answered a routine call to check an overheated car at S. M. Simpson Ltd., 820 Gay St., at 1:53 a.m.

The department was summoned to a woodshed blaze in the 1600 block of Glenmore St., at 2:17 p.m., and returned to the 1400 block Leon Avenue at 10:15 p.m. to check a garbage fire.

No damage was reported in all three cases.

Kelowna Local Sends Protest To Labor Relations Board

The Kelowna local of the Canadian Union of Public Employees has sent a letter to the labor board disagreeing with the concept of the city's proposed membership in the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Labor Relations Association.

OMMLRA is designed to act as a bargaining agent with CUPE members in a group of municipalities including Kelowna, Kamloops, Penticton, Salmon Arm, Oliver and Osoyoos. Vernon has not joined.

At present, the city of Kamloops has been called before the B.C. Supreme Court in Vancouver to defend the legality of its membership in the organization.

Action against Kamloops was sought by CUPE local 900 business agent William Ferguson, who said in an affidavit that the Aug. 17 approval of the OMMLRA constitution and bylaws was illegal.

Meanwhile, in Kelowna, action has not been so severe, as CUPE local president here, Peter Cook, is waiting for a reply to the letter stating with its union, Mr. Cook explained.

He did admit, though, that the CUPE local here was against the accreditation of the new organization and said that they were concerned that their tax money could be controlled by smaller municipalities.

"Last time there was regional bargaining, we had three strikes," Mr. Cook said.

The main objection to the concept of the OMMLRA is that one municipality can't settle without the others settling. For instance, if the council and local of one municipality are in accord they still have to abide by the overall situation.

The resulting situation is that taxpayers are affected by the general situation, even in a municipality that is in accord with its union, Mr. Cook explained.

David F. B. Kinloch Named Assistant Distillery Chief

Long-time Coldstream resident, David F. B. Kinloch, has been appointed assistant manager of the Hiram Walker and Sons Ltd. Okanagan Distillery in Winfield.

The announcement came Tuesday from F. D. Leeder, plant manager.

Mr. Kinloch joined the Hiram Walker organization in 1953 as interior sales representative and served in that capacity until August of 1970 when he was transferred to the distillery as manager of administrative services.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Kinloch moved to the Okanagan in 1919. He received his education in Vernon and at Queens University in Kingston, Ontario.

Prior to his association with Hiram Walker, he was municipal clerk at Coldstream for seven years.

During the Second World War he served overseas with the British Columbia Dragoons.

Private Services For Randal Keys

Private services were held for Randal Jay Keys of Rutland who died Monday.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Keys of Rutland, one brother, Ernie, one sister, Shelley; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Heshe-dahl of Preeceville, Saskatchewan; and his grandfather, M. T. Keys of Tisdale, Sask.

Day's Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

After the war he continued his association with the regiment and became commanding officer.

Later he formed 114 Manning Depot in Vernon and completed his militia career as commander of 27 Militia Group with a rank of colonel.

Col. Kinloch is also honorary aide-de-camp to Lieut.-Gov. J. R. Nicholson of British Columbia. He served in the same capacity for the Hon. G. R. Peakes and the Hon. Frank Ross.

"Giving People A Chance" But Some Are Pessimistic

The provincial government's announcement on a proposed 50 per cent subsidy for the creation of jobs for welfare recipients is a "big step forward," the sentiment was expressed today by Mrs. Mabel Devlin, president of the Kelowna branch of the Association of Self Help.

She praised the move as being "beneficial to everyone" since it would provide companies with the opportunity to "give people a chance."

"There are so many welfare recipients who want work," she emphasized.

Formed in the city two and a half years ago, A.S.H. currently has a membership of 1,200 in city and district, composed entirely of people dependent on welfare. The organization meets once a month.

NOT AWARE
Other people queried on the announcement were not aware of the government proposal issued Tuesday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The premier said although the past summer has been a good one for employment in the province, "there are still many persons on welfare unable to get work."

He added "as an inducement to industry and all private enterprise, and to the public sector for six months beginning Nov. 1, all these people which industry absorbs, or the public sector absorbs, and providing they are not replacing anyone and are in additional jobs created and are paid at the prevailing rate, the Social Credit government will pay 50 per cent of the labor costs."

PESSIMISTIC
Industry and labor officials were pessimistic and guarded in their reaction to the announcement. F. G. Peskett, president of the Employers' Council of British Columbia, said Tuesday that subsidies are not sufficient incentives for industry to create new jobs.

"Jobs are created if the demand in the market place requires increased production," he said, adding "you can't make a job that way if it isn't required in the first place."

A labor committee headed by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell was established by a special cabinet meeting, and includes minister without portfolio, Grace McCarthy. "Because this not only covers men but women as well," the Premier explained.

Jack Moore, president of the Western Canada Section of the International Woodworkers of America, said he does not think subsidies of this nature will solve the problem of unemployment and large numbers on welfare.

MORE INFORMATION
"I'd like to know more about it," he said, adding "it sounds like it might have some good aspects, but I can also see a lot of problems."

He said "if it is just for six months, what will happen to the people after the six months are up? Will they be put on the street again?"

Canadian Labor Congress secretary-treasurer, William Dodge, said a well-qualified person seeking a job in the province "would have two strikes against him" if another applicant had been on welfare. He added "if I had a so-so job that could be done for 50 per cent of the cost, I'd certainly accept the deal."

The subsidy would also "downgrade" workmanship, Mr. Dodge said, adding a qualified worker with a good performance record could easily be passed by for a less qualified worker who had been on welfare. He said the move "negates" the generally accepted move toward greater efficiency and production.

DISCRIMINATORY
"But mainly it's discriminatory against people not on welfare," he added.

British Columbia Federation of Citizens' Association spokesman, Marjorie Hartling, said the success of the scheme "depends on the responses and co-operation of industry."

She added the proposal may help public agencies such as schools, welfare offices and libraries to hire more people from the welfare department's opportunities program. Under the program, some people on welfare have been making $50 extra a month as volunteers in such agencies, Miss Hartling said.

After the war he continued his association with the regiment and became commanding officer.

Later he formed 114 Manning Depot in Vernon and completed his militia career as commander of 27 Militia Group with a rank of colonel.

What Tires For Winter?

While studded tires, tire chains and sand are effective driving aids at temperatures near freezing, they give motorists no extra protection at temperatures near zero in comparison to regular highway tires.

This is one of the main conclusions contained in the Canada Safety Council's 1971 Winter Driving Tests report.

"The council considers that tests provided valuable new information regarding safe winter driving techniques," J. C. Thackray, president of the CSC, commented. "They show conclusively that there is no substitute for caution and skill in these adverse driving conditions."

Vehicles equipped with standard highway tires, snow tires and studded snow tires and tire chains were tested on clear ice and sanded ice for stopping distances and maneuvering ability in simulated lane changing at temperatures ranging from freezing to five below zero (Fahrenheit).

Sanded ice reduced significantly the stopping distances of vehicles equipped with any of the tires and aids tested. But even the increased friction provided by sand became insignificant when applied to ice hardened by a drop in temperature to 10 degrees.

On clear ice at temperatures near the freezing point, tire chains and studded snow tires fitted on all four wheels provided the most significant decrease in stopping distances in comparison to standard highway tires or snow tires. But once again, the improvement was nullified as the ice temperature approached zero.

Snow tires did not reduce stopping distances on clear ice in comparison to regular highway tires. Vehicles fitted with snow tires on all four wheels actually took longer to stop than those equipped with regular tires on clear ice at temperatures near the freezing point.

The lane-change tests indicative of cornering ability showed that cars equipped with studded snow tires on all four wheels could make the manoeuvre on clear ice at temperatures near the freezing point some 50 per cent faster than cars fitted with regular highway or snow tires. However, both speeds involved on this slippery surface were relatively low.

Once again, the advantage disappeared at temperatures near zero. Studds on the rear wheels only gave no such improvement and actually decreased cornering ability in comparison to regular highway tires at temperatures near zero.

In the starting traction tests conducted on clear ice, chains provided the most bite followed by studded tires on the rear axle only. Studded tires fitted on all four wheels provided somewhat less traction.

The hard-packed snow tests, conducted on surfaces so hard that tires left no tread marks, showed that snow tires give no advantage in starting traction compared to regular highway tires. Chains gave the most bite but studded tires gave no consistent advantage on this treacherous driving surface compared to the same snow tires unstudded.

The winter testing program was undertaken by the Canada Safety Council in co-operation with the federal ministry of transport, the Ontario department of transportation and communications and the Quebec roads department. They were carried out on Lake Timiskaming 300 miles north of Toronto.

Indonesia Hasn't Made Up Mind About Policy On China's UN Entry

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The man due to preside over the United Nations debate on the China question isn't sure how his own country will vote.

Adam Malik, Indonesian foreign minister, says:

"We have not decided what to do. We would like to see one China like the Chinese want. But if the two Chinas would like to sit together nobody will object."

He feels a membership for mainland China would strengthen the UN and lead to reduction of world tensions.

Indonesia's relations with Peking have been suspended since 1967. That year, after a Communist coup failed in Jakarta, mobs here sacked Peking's embassy and mobs in Peking sacked the Indonesian embassy. Since then Indonesia has abstained from voting on the China question in the UN.

Malik would like normal relations with Peking, associates say, but not until the Chinese officially accept the Suharto government and stop propaganda against it.

It is Asia's turn to provide a president for the UN General Assembly this year. In June the Asian ambassadors unanimously endorsed Malik, assuring his election when the assembly convenes, Sept. 21 for a three-month session.

Malik, 54, who had little formal education, is popular at home for his quick wit and smooth Sumatran manner, and equally so abroad for his skill as a diplomat. He has used this extensively in negotiating Indonesia back into an accepted position in the world community following several chaotic years.

The late president Sukarno at one point pulled Indonesia out of the UN.

Malik's election as assembly president is seen here as a show of Asian confidence in President Suharto's "New Order," and in Malik himself.

Since he founded Indonesia's national news agency Antara in 1937, Malik has had a reputation as an activist who can get things done. He ran the agency until 1942 when the Japanese closed it.

In 1945, when Indonesia proclaimed its independence from the Dutch, Malik risked his life to transmit word of the event to the outside world.

MOVED INTO POLITICS

He later reactivated Antara and began moving into active politics by founding the Socialist party Murba.

Sukarno named him in 1958 as ambassador to Moscow—a post he held for three years at a time when the Soviets were pouring $1 billion worth of military aid and equipment into Indonesia.

In 1961, he helped negotiate the Dutch transfer of West Irian to Indonesia and in 1963 was named trade minister. Toward the end of the Sukarno era, he fell out with the Communists as they gained influence with Sukarno and he was moved out of the way to the position of minister without portfolio.

On Oct. 1, 1965, came the coup attempt which was quickly put down by Gen. Suharto. As he began to squeeze Sukarno out of office, Malik was named foreign minister.

Since then, Malik has crisscrossed the world as the chief spokesman of the Suharto regime and has played a key role in having foreign aid to Indonesia resumed by the Western nations, bringing foreign investment back into the country and negotiating the rescheduling of the $1.2-billion foreign debt run up by Sukarno.

Commons Not Acrimonious Over Talk About Election

OTTAWA (CP) — If Lester Pearson were prime minister and John Diefenbaker were still leading the opposition, speculation would abound about the degree of election-eve bedlam in the resumed parliamentary session.

But with today's cast of leaders, little is said about the so-called "mood" of Parliament. The fact is, there have been few fluctuations since 1968.

There is talk now about a hardened opposition stance as Parliament resumes and the politicians begin looking forward to the next general election campaign. That could come anytime up to the spring of 1973. However, no one is suggesting the House is about to erupt into acrimony.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield doesn't go thundering off on the trail of the government as his predecessor did. Prime Minister Trudeau doesn't respond with the ruffled anger of his predecessor.

If there are unusual fireworks this fall, some observers say, they are likely to originate with New Democrat Leader David Lewis, a tough, gut-issue performer who is credited with the ability to get under Mr. Trudeau's skin. With some spring seasoning in the leader's chair, he is expected to come out fighting.

"If we play our cards right," says one of his colleagues, "David can appear to be the effective leader of the opposition—and that would be a nice way to begin an election campaign."

Meanwhile, Conservative MPs

are predicting that Mr. Stanfield will also be a more prominent personality in the resumed session, because the over-riding issue will involve tax reform. This is the issue—when it was in the form of a government white paper—that brought Mr. Stanfield to his fighting peak.

The Conservatives will be proposing a series of amendments to the tax legislation, which has already been amended drastically from the original white paper proposals.

Stanley Knowles, the veteran House leader of the NDP, doesn't foresee any great change in the mood of the resumed session. "I doubt whether there will be any more acrimony than in the earlier part of the session."

"We're going to have a long hard pull with that tax bill." He says it's possible the tax debate could go on until close to Christmas, in which case a new session would begin in January with a pre-election Throne Speech.

"We'll be exceedingly critical of the tax bill," says Gerald W. Baldwin, Conservative House leader. "But as for the general atmosphere of the House, this will depend a great deal on the government."

While the fall session will be dominated by fiscal and monetary matters—the U.S. surcharges likely will get frequent mention throughout the tax debate—Mr. Baldwin said there will be a lot of questions about the secretary of state's department, the new civilian security force, the effect of Britain's entry into the European Common Market and a number of other areas.

But whether the probes result in the eruption of a major issue remains to be seen.

Same Distance But It's Longer...

By SHARON MCKAY
London Free Press

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — It is more than 800 miles from Cathy Pollock's home in London to Sandy Lake, a northwestern Ontario Indian reserve.

Cathy says there is no scale to measure the psychological distance.

She is a teacher whose first job was with the department of Indian affairs and northern development.

"It has really turned out to be quite an experience. It's something you have to come up north to feel."

"This is my home, but it's not, really. I would rather be in the North."

"I've learned a lot about myself and other people. Your values and attitudes change, you learn more patience. It's peaceful and quiet and you can be yourself to think. You're a lot freer. It teaches you to be quite independent."

In Sandy Lake, population about 1,000, situated 250 miles north of Sioux Lookout, Cathy shared a small house with another young teacher, she taught a class of 35 Grade 2 pupils.

ON THEIR OWN

Northern teachers have an orientation program to prepare them for some of the differences they will experience, but when they get up north, they are on their own.

"The worst thing is the very first day when you're up there in front of the class and they don't speak much English and you don't speak any of their language.

"Anything we learned at teacher's college didn't help us with these children. It takes a long time to get the kids to open up."

"For someone going in there, the thing I'd tell them is that they aren't going to save the people. You go in with your up-to-date teaching methods and it just doesn't work. I sat down for two weeks and just watched my kids and then worked from there."

She said the children loved to play pranks on her, but getting them to talk was difficult.

"When one of them who hasn't spoken to you all year comes up and says 'I to toilet, please,' you almost cry."

TAUGHT BY CREES

The rest of the community were difficult to get to know, too, but she and her roommate did become friends with many of the people. The Cree women taught them to make moccasins and do bead work and in exchange, Cathy gave instructions in the use of the school's sewing machines.

Later, Cathy planned to visit friends in Sandy Lake. She is going 110 miles farther north next year to teach in Sachigo.

There were 300 pupils in the Sandy Lake school. There are only 200 people on the Sachigo reserve.

"If I like Sachigo I might stay first day when you're up there in front of the class and they don't speak much English and

Improving Picnic Sites

(Penticton Herald)

Those roadside oases—the picnic sites—which provide a welcome relief for the traveller in the Okanagan are getting additional improvements under the provincial government's expanded parks budget.

While the outlay was increased substantially this year to furnish the financial backing for what amounted to a make-work program to combat unemployment, it cannot be said that the improvements at the sites north of Penticton are being done merely for the sake of cutting down on the jobless roll.

The projects, which include rock work, paving of access roads and the installation of water are designed to make the stay a little more pleasurable for the traveller. In fact, the work might fall under the category of essential service.

The record of Recreation Minister Kiernan in establishing small parks is a good one and the improvements being carried out are timely in view of the upsurge in tourism. The Family Camping Federation reports that production of recreational vehicles is up 75 per cent in the first six months of 1971 over the same period a year ago and the industry is still several years away from reaching its maximum peak output. By 1980, it is predicted that the number of such vehicles on highways will reach a level more than three times the current number.

The provincial campgrounds and park sites in this area are so popular now that vacationing campers are overtaxing facilities. And on the basis of the enjoyment camping provides so many people, it seems reasonable to expect an expanding budget to provide for the development of additional facilities.

When visitors can find accommodation they go away happy at the end of their stay and since we are becoming more and more dependent on the visitor industry in this province, investment now in satisfied customers could improve our trade in years to come.

At the moment, the main thing is to purchase choice sites and so guarantee their availability for the public before private development removes them permanently from the market.

National Treasures Of Zulu Restored To Nation Once More

ESHOWE, South Africa (Reuters) — One of the world's most unlikely national treasures has been restored to its people, the Zulus of South Africa.

The treasure is a three-handled silver beer mug that Queen Victoria once presented to the great Zulu chief Cetewayo.

The heavy, rather plain container, which holds about two pints, bears the inscription: "Presented to Cetewayo by Queen Victoria August 14, 1882."

The story began in 1879 when Cetewayo and his people were defeated by the British in the final battle of the Zulu war.

Cetewayo had led his people in rebellion the year before and the proud and fierce warriors, armed only with assegais (small spears), and shields had inflicted severe losses on the well-equipped British troops.

Cetewayo fled, but soon afterwards he was captured and exiled from the Zulu homeland, in the northeastern coastal region of South Africa, to Cape Town.

But Cetewayo, whom the British recognized as the king of the Zulu nation, spent only a short time in close confinement. In January, 1881, he was allowed to live on a farm under mild supervision.

LUNCHEON WITH QUEEN

The following year he was allowed to visit England and on Aug. 14 he lunched at Buckingham Palace with Queen Victoria, who presented the vanquished Zulu leader with the silver beer mug.

In 1883 Cetewayo was allowed to return to Zululand and rebuild his capital at Ulundi. But he found his people torn by civil war and himself came under attack from one of his former generals, Zibhebhu, chief of one of the Zulu sub-tribes.

In the war that followed Cetewayo's brother Ndabuko suffered a crushing defeat and Zibhebhu attacked the royal kraal (village) at Ulundi.

Cetewayo fled, leaving behind all his belongings, including the silver beer mug.

In the sacking of Ulundi that followed the mug was found and it remained forgotten for half a century.

Then, in 1936, a young Zulu called Gobi found a metal object in the mud of a stream he was crossing. Two days later he cleaned it and found it was a bright, shiny mug which bore an inscription.

He took the mug to a local trader, C. R. Harris, who bought it for a sum he cannot remember and kept it at his home until this year.

The now-elderly Harris toyed for some time with the idea of restoring the mug to the Zulu people.

At a recent ceremony in the Zululand Historical Museum here, he handed it over the acting paramount chief, Israel Ka Solomon, and chief executive officer Chief Gashu Buthelezi, himself a direct descendant of Cetewayo.

The two chiefs then presented the mug, still in fine condition despite its eventful 80-year loss, to the museum to be kept forever as part of the Zulus' national heritage.

Italian Sailor Held As Spy

ROME (AP) — The secret service has arrested an Italian navy petty officer in what press reports today called one of the most sensational cases of spying for the Soviet Union uncovered in Italy since the end of the Second World War.

Official sources identified the arrested man only as Silvestri. They said he had left the navy and had undertaken "activity in favor of an Eastern country."

The Rome daily Giornale d'Italia says Silvestri, 32, was arrested moments after he took money from an East European diplomat in Rome several days ago.

It says the sailor had passed on to Soviet and other Communist diplomats information regarding Italian and North Atlantic Treaty Organization secrets.

The paper speaks of a "spy network" at work with Silvestri's official Italian cover, however, said the man's "espionage activity" was done alone.

The development came less than three months after the controversial attack of the Soviet embassy. The diplomat, an expelled Italian, had been expelled from Italy for alleged espionage.

Montreal Ups Its Economy

MONTREAL (CP) — Economic activity in Montreal is up sharply from 1970, one of the worst years in recent history, a Montreal economist said.

Jacques Dery, director of the Montreal Economic Research Office, said all economic indicators point to an accelerating business wave that may develop into a boom.

The first seven months of 1971 saw trading of $996 million on the Montreal Stock Exchange, up 41 per cent from the corresponding period in 1970.

Even the sagging Port of Montreal showed a seven-per-cent increase over the first six months of 1970, handling 8.7 million tons by June 30 last year.

New dwelling construction starts increased by nearly 55 per cent in the first six months of 1971 and the steadily-growing number of building permits issued by Montreal city hall to July 31 carried a total value of $90 million, up 105 per cent over the 1970 seven-month figure of $43 million.

CANADA'S STORY

Montreal Gave In But Not Levis

By BOB BOWMAN

When Wolfe won the battle on the Plains of Abraham on Sept. 13, 1759 the British had two other armies ready to attack Montreal. Gen. Amherst had one army at Lake Champlain and the other was at Oswego, N.Y. However, Amherst did not learn about Wolfe's victory until Oct. 18 and he decided that it was too late in the year to attack Montreal.

It was not until Sept. 8, 1760, that Montreal surrendered without a battle. The long delay was a mistake. If Amherst had attacked late in 1759 there would have been little opposition. But Gen. Levis, who succeeded Montcalm, used the winter to gather another Canadian army and nearly recaptured Quebec in the spring of 1760. He did, in fact, win the battle of Sainte-Foy, but was not able to get his troops into Quebec. British Gen. Murray hung on until Royal Navy units arrived and Levis was forced to retreat to Montreal.

It was Aug. 10, 1760, when Amherst began his move against Montreal. He led the army from Oswego, while Gen. Murray brought his troops from Quebec, and Col. Haviland led the force from Lake Champlain. They converged on Montreal, Sept. 7, and Governor Vaudreuil surrendered the city the next day.

day although Levis was furiously angry. He wanted to gather his officers and men on St. Helen's Island and fight to the finish. He was not allowed to do this so he burned the banners of his regiments which was a great historic loss.

Amherst provided the French soldiers with safe conduct back to France and civilians were also given free transportation if they wanted to go. About 100 soldiers accepted the offer but were sorry later because they found a chilly reception awaiting them and had difficulty fitting into the society of France. They had been better off in Canada.

Five Generations Of Marys Wear Gold Keeper Ring

A gold keeper ring, given by her maternal grandmother, was worn by Rona Mary Loyd for her Aug. 28 marriage to Jock Llewellyn Hawkey of Kelowna. The ring has been worn by five generations of Marys in the family.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Loyd of Cadder Avenue, Kelowna, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkey, also of Kelowna.

Rev. Paul Robinson conducted the late afternoon ceremony in a setting of cream gladioli and baskets of mixed flowers in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Kelowna. White ribbons formed the pew markers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a fitted full-length dress of white polyester crepe with long lily-pleat sleeves. An inverted pleat formed a train at the back of the high-waisted gown. Sequins trimmed the length of the front panels and the back pleat, and also trimmed the front edge of the hood which was attached to the dress. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses, which was made by her godmother, Mrs. Charles Henderson of Kelowna.

Something blue was a garter and something borrowed were earrings loaned by her maid-of-honor, Sandi Curtis of Kelowna. Fran Hawkey of Kelowna and Barbara Burnett of Vernon were bridesmaids.

POLYESTER PRINTS

The gowns of the bride's attendants were fashioned of colorful polyester prints of pinks, gold and mauve. Stand up collars topped the bodices and long full set-in sleeves ended in buttoned cuffs. Pink ribbon sashes accented the raised waistlines of the full-length gowns. Clusters of flowers made from matching materials formed headresses and they carried posies of pink and mauve asters and baby's breath.

Best man was David Loyd of Kelowna and ushers were Peter Turgoose of Burnaby and Wayne Makinson of Kelowna. A matching coat and dress ensemble of turquoise brocade was chosen by the mother of the bride who received the guests at the reception which followed in the garden of Mrs.

MR. AND MRS. JOCK HAWKEY

O. V. Maude-Roxby of Kelowna, turquoise accessories and a corsage of white carnations completed her outfit. The groom's mother chose a teal blue bubble crepe dress with cream accessories. A corsage of yellow and orange roses added contrast.

Two bowls of pink and white petunias formed the decor of the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with small vase of asters.

The toast to the bride was proposed by E. R. F. Dodd and Dave Loyd performed the honors for the bridesmaids. A pant suit of blue, brown and grey double knit with tan gloves and shoulder bag and brown shoes was the ensemble chosen by the bride for leaving on a honeymoon to a fishing lodge. The couple will make their home at 3721 Warren St., Burnaby.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Wilmut of Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hawkey and family of Tofino, V.I.; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hawkey and family of Williams Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Alec Hawkey of Kamloops; Beverly Steele, Alan Aoki, Dawn Darling, Herb Lee, all of Vancouver and Rick Needoba of Calgary.

Individuality Is Keynote For Fall Coats

NEW YORK (CP) — Individuality is still the keynote to fashion this season. Your fall coat can be one of several silhouettes. No designer or firm is trying to force you to accept one style as the only fall fashion.

However, two coat silhouettes have turned up consistently in most top collections. Probably the most favored is the big collared trench coat. Award-winner Bill Blass is particularly fond of this style, worn over sleek little wool dresses or brief pants and sweaters.

The casual chesterfield falls into this category, too. This is the loose coat made famous by the fourth Earl of Chesterfield who died in 1773. Today his single-breasted style is usually double-breasted.

The other fall style is the wrap or bathrobe, loose and roomy enough to fit over a suit. Kasper for Joan Leslie uses camel wool for a long wrap over pants-and-jacket with matching aviator's cap. Oscar de la Renta likes a long navy cashmere wrap with huge shawl collar. The more sophisticated wrap is the polo coat, even casually elegant for evening.

Some designers are referring to their wraps as steamer coats, harking back to the 1940s. But whatever the name, the wrap is a top favorite and in every fabric from David's pinky-beige fleece to Bill Blass' Spanish-tile Melton cloth.

LEAN LOOKS IN

But if neither the trench coat nor the wrap is for you, there are plenty of lean fitted looks. Indeed this is the newest, most prophetic look. It should be a big winner next spring. It's a decisive tailored look, in contrast to the seductive wrap or the casual trench.

ANN LANDERS

And Now Hear This Female Genes Are Wider

Dear Ann Landers:

You should have double-checked your information on sex chromosomes. You would have found that one of the two X chromosomes is a deadhead and sits at the edge of the nucleus doing nothing. The Y chromosome (in people, but not in fruit flies) partially controls the things that make males male.

Get up off your knees, Ann. Women are wonderful—and you don't need to explain it on the basis of chromosomes. Besides, the only difference between male and female genes is that female genes are wider at the hips.—H. Ira Pilgrim, Ph.D., Associate Research Professor of Anatomy, University of Utah and an Ann Landers Fan

Dear Dr. Pilgrim: You might have landed on Plymouth Rock, Doc, but when I read your letter I felt as if Pilgrim rock had landed on me. My agony was short-lived, however, because I checked with Dr. Bernard Struss, chairman of the committee on genetics at the University of Chicago, and this is what he said: "Dr. Pilgrim is right on both counts. The mixup, however, is due to semantics rather than scientific differences. You used the word 'inferior' to describe the Y chromosome. This was a poor choice of words because the Y chromosome does have an important function. It is easy to get into trouble with the scientists when one prints material of this nature, no matter how factual. I am pleased to see that you take enough pride in your work to check."

So, dear readers, if you learned nothing else today, you now know that female genes are wider at the hips. Isn't it marvelous, the bits of priceless information you get from reading this column?

Dear Ann Landers:

I just read the letter from the person in Syracuse whose brother had not spoken to his parents for two years. Your answer burned me up. You said it is "unspeakably cruel" to cut parents out of one's life. What about parents who cut children out of their lives? I don't mean by not speaking to them. I mean by simply ignoring them. I have the most selfish mother who ever lived. As for my father, if I saw him lying on the street I wouldn't stop to pick him up. They are both so self-righteous they make me sick to my stomach. To listen to them talk, they have been the most devoted parents in the world—made many sacrifices for us when we were young, all that garbage. But just let one of us kids ask for help and they run a mile in the opposite direction. (We are all grown, by the way, and none of us lives at home.) Print this if you want to. I mean every word of it. And if either of my parents see it, it's O.K. with me. I despise them both.—An Invisible Child.

Dear :

The key words in your letter are "sick to my stomach." I believe you are sick somewhere else, as well. And I am not surprised. Such raw hate would make anyone sick.

I urge you to get some counselling. To live a life filled with so much hostility is like carrying a time bomb around in your head. You are toting a mighty dangerous load, my friend. I hope you will unburden yourself, soon.

Varicolored Gladioli Form Setting For Marriage Vows

Varicolored gladioli enhanced the altar of Grace Baptist Church, Kelowna, for the Sept. 3 wedding of Ingrid Ilona Gottschling of Kelowna and Rainer George Fehler, also of Kelowna. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gottschling of Kelowna and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Fehler of Edmonton.

Rev. E. Babel conducted the 5 p.m. ceremony with soloist Mrs. U. Zabel of Kelowna singing "Caro Mio Ben" in the candlelit setting. Dorothea Babel of Kelowna was her accompanist.

HANKY BORROWED The bride chose an embroidered silk peau de sole gown with long sheer train. Long bell sleeves were a feature of the empire waisted gown and a pill box styled head piece of the same material as the gown held a long lace-edged veil. A bouquet of yellow roses with purple elegance carnations and multicolored daisies added contrast to the bride's gown.

Keeping the 'something old' tradition she wore 'old shoes,' borrowed a lace trimmed handkerchief from her mother, a blue garter and a silver pendant, a gift from the groom was 'something new.'

Elleonora Fehler, a sister of the groom, of Edmonton, served as maid-of-honor and Karen Gottschling, the younger sister of the bride, of Kelowna, was bridesmaid. Flower girl was Ruth Fuhrmann, of Rutland.

The bridal attendants, clad in sky blue cut chiffon over taffeta with silver braid trim, carried smaller versions of the bride's bouquet. Puff sleeves completed the empire lined gowns. Small flowers of the same material as their dresses formed headresses.

Mark Kriesse of Vancouver served as ring bearer and Manfred Dreger of Edmonton was best man. Ushering was Gerry Tonn of Kelowna.

For the reception which followed at Capri, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a princess lined gold lurex dress with hand embroidered pearl trim. Gold accessories and a matching orchid corsage completed her ensemble. The groom's mother chose a brown and gold brocade semi-formal dress with harmonizing orchid corsage.

GERMAN TORTE

A fancy German torte set with dainty smoked glass vases of flowers formed the centerpiece for the bride's table. Toasts were proposed by Peter Fehler.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a purple mid-length dress and vest ensemble with white accessories. After a honeymoon at Jasper the couple will reside at Anders Road, RR 6, Kelowna.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Benno Schultz and Rolf, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kriesse and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gottschling, Mrs. Klaus Berger and Nicole, Mr. and Mrs. Gunther Klem and Wolfgang, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Fehler; Mrs. Elizabeth Runzer, Evelyn Fehler, Mrs. F. Hirschfeld, Charlie Oehke, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fehler, all of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gottschling of Winnipeg, Man.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Barwick are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Marcia Joyce to Gordon Carl Datta, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Datta of Silverton. The wedding will take place on Dec. 27 at St. David's Presbyterian Church, Kelowna with Rev. David Stewart officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Setter of Kelowna are pleased to announce the engagement of their second daughter Donna Margaret to Rudiger (Rudy) Klaus Zellman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric H. Zellman of Kelowna. Wedding plans will be announced later.

Anglican Church Women Set Dates For Fall Projects

Twenty members of the Anglican Church Women met in the Cameron Room of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican parish hall for the first meeting of the new season. The meeting began with a short prayer.

An invitation was extended to the members from the Auxiliary Lay Training centre to attend the conference on Sept. 14. The theme of the seminar is Hope, with Rev. Jim Cruikshank leading discussion. Fraser Berry, Bishop of the Kootenay will also be in attendance.

A thank you letter was received from the Diocese of Athabasca for the parcel of clothing sent earlier in the year.

Bishop Berry acknowledged with thanks the congratulatory note sent by the members upon his recent election as Bishop of Kootenay.

Oct. 24 is the date set for the next tea to be given in the extended care unit of the Kelowna General Hospital. Mrs. Ernest Green will convene this project. Members were reminded of the Anglican Church Women's pot luck supper on Sept. 29 at the parish hall. This date commemorates the feast of St. Michael and All Angels. This annual pot luck supper is always a great success, being enjoyed by young and old alike.

A telephone committee will be organized to contact all members of the parish reminding them of this special event and a particularly warm welcome is extended to all new members of the parish.

Members are also reminded that the Anglican Church Women will hold their annual rummage sale on Oct. 6. The meeting closed with a prayer, Mrs. Ronald D. McClean, Mrs. Robert Gates and Mrs. Frank Guérard served a tasty lunch.

Margaret Mead Blasts Men

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — Anthropologist Margaret Mead has lashed out against men for "monkeying" with women to prevent unwanted pregnancies. "The pill has been put into women's hands by men because men are so extraordinarily afraid to experiment with their own bodies," Miss Mead told a symposium of more than 200 scientists here Friday. "So they monkey with women."

She called for the development of a birth control pill which would have to be taken by both partners, saying: "We will not achieve full equality of the sexes until there is such cooperation in contraception."

DIVORCES LAG ROME (AP) — Italian courts granted 2,394 divorces in the first six months since divorce became legal in this Roman Catholic country. The figure is lower than had been anticipated before the controversial law was approved by parliament in December.

Bride Of Kelowna Man Is Former Valley Girl

A wedding of interest to Valley residents took place in James Bay United Church, Victoria, where Andria Joanne Fuller, of Victoria, became the bride of David George Wyper of Kelowna. The bride is the daughter of former Valley residents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur John Robson Fuller, now of Victoria and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Menzies Wyper of Okanagan Mission.

Rev. Kenneth Wood officiated and soloist, Mrs. Kenneth Patterson, now of Victoria and formerly of Penicton, sang, "The Wedding Prayer, I Love You and The Prayer Perfect." Walter Hamilton of Victoria was accompanist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a traditional gown of sheer organza with a portrait neckline, embroidered panels at yoke and down the front of the skirt. A dainty bow at the empire waist and Victorian sleeves completed the gown. A Juliet cap of tiny daisies accented with seed pearls, was her headpiece and she carried three long stemmed red roses.

Attendants were Mrs. C. Gordon Churches, her sister of Victoria, as matron of honor; Debbie Pauls, Oliver and Vancouver; and Rilla Fuller, her sister of Vancouver. Flower girl was Terri Nelson of Vancouver and ring bearer was Michael George Wyper, the groom's nephew of Lumby. Donald Knorr of Kelowna was best man and the usher was Charles Gordon Churches of Victoria.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID WYPER

Following the reception at the Royal Reef a buffet supper was held in the apartment of the bride's parents for about 40 of the out-of-town guests and close relatives who were able to stay. Heather and Sally Wyper of Lumby were in charge of the guest book and the toast to the bride was given by Henry William Shaw of Penicton. Alan Wyper toasted the bridesmaids and George Law, a great uncle of the groom read a poem on Christian marriage. For a honeymoon to Maple Bay and a tour of Vancouver Island the bride chose a white crimplene dress with red accessories. They will reside at Burnaby.

Former Okanagan Woman 1st Woman Prexy Victoria C of C

VICTORIA (CP) — When she was installed recently as the first woman president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Helen Beirnes-Watling was presented with a gavel decorated with a large scented powder puff.

"The first thing I did was sneeze," said Miss Beirnes who, in accepting the one-year assignment, also became the first woman president of a Canadian chamber for a metropolitan area.

"Then I suggested that I hoped it would always be my insignia but no way was it going to be the chamber's insignia for this year."

Such a distinction between her role as a woman and her role in the business community seems clear in the mind of this suburban-raised, attractive mother of four.

"When you're in business you do the things that have to be done and you do them in a forthright manner. But when you're home and you're with your husband or your escort or whatever, a little hesitation at the door allows him to open it for you.

"This makes him feel more like a man and you more like a woman."

Raised on a fruit farm in the Okanagan area of British Columbia, Miss Beirnes said she "was always interested in what makes the business world go round."

BEGAN CHARM SCHOOL After working for a while as a model, she opened a charm school or "self-development school" as she prefers to call it.

Following her marriage to Conrad Watling and arrival in Victoria she began the National Charm School which she has operated for the last 14 years.

She joined the chamber five years ago because, she said, she had her own business and also because "if you are going to be part of a community then you have to be willing to get in and do some work in it."

Other than keeping up her spacious, modern home and her work with the chamber,

Miss Beirnes models for the odd charity fashion show, writes a column for a weekly Victoria paper and nine months of the year is host for an hour-long interview program on a Victoria television station.

How does her husband feel about her involvement in so many out-of-home activities? "He thinks it's great. He is a firm believer that a woman should live her own life, that she should be herself."

"He feels women are more interesting if they are active in many things."

LOTS TO TALK ABOUT She said she and her husband, who has an investigation agency, runs an import-export business and is president of the Oak Bay Ratepayers Association, have a lot more to talk about because we take an active interest in what is going on outside the four walls of our home.

Miss Beirnes said that when her children, who now are 21 to 25, were growing up she planned her business involvement around their needs. But she is not one to be an overly dominant parent.

"I don't think it is healthy for a mother to be around 24 hours a day. Children learn to stand on their feet much better if they don't always have mother to turn to."

The ladies of the female liberation movement get little support from Miss Beirnes.

"The idea that women are being downtrodden is just a bunch of malarkey as far as I'm concerned. Being a woman has never held me back from anything I've ever wanted to do yet."

"I think the yelling, the shouting, the placard-carrying and all the rest of this is strictly detaching because it makes women generally look like the very thing they are claiming they are not."

FAVORS BROAD ROLE For Miss Beirnes, who says she retained her maiden name in business because she was well established in the business world before she was married, the basic function of the Chamber of Commerce is "to work for the betterment of the community as a whole, not just the business community."

Seated at home behind a desk cluttered with clues to her active life—notes with phone numbers, books, memoranda, Miss Beirnes said high on her list of goals to be achieved during her one year in office is a study made of the feasibility of providing a course at the University of Victoria on the problems and possibilities of creating pollution-free cities.

When she can't speaking, motoring, cooking, writing or teaching, Miss Beirnes may be found riding a bicycle around the city or sitting quietly in her garden for an early morning drink.

"There are her 'quiet times'."

"When do you put your head to the pillow? You have to have your own time and I don't believe in more pills, tranquilizers and that sort of thing."

A NEW YOU

Let Color Give You A Lift In Clothes And At Home

By EMILY WILKENS

Visualize the most exciting girl you know. Chances are you will picture her in living color. A picture really is worth a thousand words, especially when it proves the point: Color is definitely one of the greatest beauty assets!

The way you use color—not just in clothing and makeup but in your surroundings, as well—can make you come across vivacious, romantic, mysterious, sophisticated, pert or dramatic. Or, if you choose the dullsville route, you could seem negatively withdrawn, aloof, cold, unimaginative, perhaps just plain boring!

This is not to say your wardrobe should be completely a rainbow of color. Rely on basic neutrals, too, but with today's plethora of unique, vivid accessories, there is no reason a girl should ever depart from her home base dressed in beige or black, unsparked by exciting color.

The hues you choose can be very reflective of your personality, sense of security and attitude. Think about it. When you are feeling up, don't you automatically reach for an outfit that carries out the mood? Yet when you are depressed, it seems fitting to wear something subdued. This, however, is a completely topsy-turvy attitude. Ironically, when you are down the lift of color can pick up your spirits. When you are feeling great is the time to carry off a neutral non-color costume—always, of course, with a touch of brightness.

If you are timid about selecting vibrant shades, start off slowly with a scarf or vest, kooky shoes or a bright patchwork tote. Whatever you choose, look in a mirror to see if it flatters your face and hair coloring. If your hair is dark and your skin olive, you thrive on clear, deep tones: reds, blues, true greens; but may look washed out in yellow-greens or pale pastels. On the other hand, the same colors that are so marvelous on you may overpower a pale and pink blonde.

Some girls instinctively know their best colors while others are totally unaware of them. Recently I told a young friend of mine that she looked so well in green. She seemed puzzled and said "but my favorite color is blue!"

Later on, she called me to say that she realized her closet was filled with many more green dresses than blue ones. All along she had been making a subconscious choice for the color she looked so well in.

Actually, the only way to go wrong in selecting color is to forget the maxim, "to thine own self be true." Never ever buy a certain hue because it looks great on Susie. If you favorite beau is crazy about pink, but you can't stand it, skirt the issue with coral, plum, mauve—just tell him it's pink.

A simple, at-home way of determining the colors that do something for you is to buy a thick packet of construction paper and cut out face-sized holes in the center of the shades you like best. Then hold up each sheet to your face and see if it "likes" you as well.

eseed Harvest y Reach Record

TAWA (CP) — There are indications that Canada's rapeseed harvest this year will be the biggest on record despite the damage caused by Bertha army worms. Agriculture Minister H. Olson told the Commons today. Richard R. Southam (PC—Qu'Appelle-Moose Mountain) had asked whether the government plans to provide emergency payments to farmers whose rapeseed was damaged. Mr. Olson said this is under consideration. Jack Murta (PC—L's gar) asked whether there is any truth to reports that a trade war is developing among countries buying Canadian rapeseed. Otto Lang, minister responsible for the Canadian wheat board, said some countries have applied special taxes on rapeseed. These had been protested by Canada and were still under discussion.

Suspension Rule Put Under Stress

By KOSS PHELPS
Courier Staff

There are many problems facing the Canadian Football League at this time and commissioner Jack Gaudaur is going to come under fire no matter what he does.

The key problem at this time is how closely the clubs are following the rule book, and to what extent they can bend (not break, mind you, just bend) different rules.

Like the suspension rule. If a player doesn't do something the club wants him to do within their jurisdiction, he can be suspended for an indefinite time. During this period he is in a netherworld, neither with the club (not being paid) or outside of it (other clubs can't touch him). And yet he can be called up at any time.

This rule was made to be taken advantage of. Think of taking your top import, slightly injured, and suspending him. Then you can legally pick up another import and play him. As soon as the suspended player heals his minor wound, he can be put back on the roster and the extra player dropped.

This is better than putting the star player on the 30-day or four-game injured list. As soon as he is on that, he can't play until one of the two requirements is met. The season is only 16 games; how would you like to miss your best player for at least one-quarter of it.

Of course most laws can be taken advantage of in some degree, and in this case the CFL general-managers are claiming it is for the betterment of the league, in that the fans will be able to see the best players at all times.

The 30-day, four-game injured list is also taken advantage of. While I was at Moose Jaw, a local athlete made the Saskatchewan Roughriders team. Archie McCord belonged to the B.C. Lions for a time but was traded for a B.C.-based player. Roughies came down to the day when the roster had to be pared, and two Canadians were in camp with one place open. So a broken bone in McCord's hand (with which he played with in exhibition games) was the reason for a cast and his being on the injured roster.

Of course we're not suggesting anything dastardly happened, just that fate is sometimes very timely.

The Lord helps fools and little children. So who knows, George Chuvalo may yet win the heavyweight boxing championship of the world. Only don't bet your bippy.

So George is going to climb into the ring again, either against Joe Frazier (and in this corner, the champion of the world) or Muhammad Ali (the poet laureate of the ring). Hope breeds eternal.

Strange Tennis War Wanted By ILTF Says Tour Backer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "It looks as if they want a war—you'd have to be naive not to notice it," Lamar Hunt, millionaire bankroller of the pro tennis tour, says of the game's newest impasse.

"It's a strange war. They want to hurt us apparently. We don't want to hurt anybody. Our hope is to build a strong professional arm to the game."

"We think we can do it to the benefit of tennis, its sponsors and its fans."

The war involves Hunt's World Championship Tennis, Inc., which has 32 leading professionals under contract, and the International Lawn Tennis Federation, which has barred Hunt's pros in all ILTF tournaments, starting in 1972.

The ILTF tournaments include Wimbledon, the U.S. Open at Forest Hills, the French Open at Roland Garros in Paris, the Italian and Australian Opens, and other long-time, established fixtures.

Kings' Manager Takes Swipe "Cry-Baby Professionals"

VICTORIA (CP) — Larry Regan, manager-coach of Los Angeles Kings, Tuesday took a swipe at "the cry-baby professionals who seem to be creeping into sports" and warned them to stay out of his corner of the National Hockey League.

"I am appalled by the lack of respect shown by some professional athletes," said the 41-year-old Regan.

He opened the Los Angeles "rookie camp" here Monday by asking three of the 31 amateur hopefuls on hand to have their near-shoulder-length hair cut.

The rookie camp is believed to be the first of its kind operated by an NHL club. By training a week before the opening of the regular camp, rookies "get a better chance to perform," said Regan. "You can't assess youngsters fairly by throwing them in with 40 to 50 pros."

The Kings' regular fall training camp opens Saturday with 41 professionals scheduled to report.

Referring to Rico Petrocelli of baseball's Boston Red Sox who has recently been critical of Boston manager Fiddie Kasko, Regan said, "I get upset when I hear of players who criticize their coaches."

Roberts, Hicke Sold By Seals

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League have sold defencemen Doug Roberts and winger Bill Hicke, general manager Garry Young said today.

In straight cash deals, Roberts was sent to the new Boston Braves franchise in the American Hockey League and Hicke to Pittsburgh Penguins in the NHL.

Both players played three seasons with the Seals.

Hicke, 33, a native of Regina, played nine previous seasons with Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers and had brief stints with Rochester, Cleveland and Baltimore in the AHL.

Roberts, 28, a Detroit native, started his professional career with the Red Wings in 1965 and went to the Seals in a 1968 trade.

The Seals open training camp here Saturday.

Correct Information Missing About Hockey Scholarships

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Central Junior A Hockey League is concerned that clubs in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series and possibly other leagues are not providing players with correct information concerning requirements for hockey scholarships at United States universities.

At a CJHL meeting Tuesday night, league president Norm Saunders of Brockville said he has had one report where a player apparently was misled by an OHA club.

Saunders said many junior hockey players are more interested in college scholarships than in professional hockey careers.

But in the current edition of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association handbook for junior operators, it is explained that players participating in major Junior A leagues after Aug. 1, 1971, will not be eligible for a scholarship at U.S. universities.

Saunders said he asked Gordon Jukes, executive director of the CAHA, for clarification of the ruling.

"I was informed that U.S. colleges have decided that players in the major Junior A series—precisely the OHA, Quebec and the Western Canada Junior A leagues—are not eligible for consideration for a hockey scholarship in the U.S.," said Saunders.

Participation in the other Junior A leagues does not affect the eligibility of players for scholarships.

Saunders plans to ask the CAHA that steps be taken to protect the players from hockey owners who might choose not to provide accurate information concerning scholarships because they may lose top prospects.

Wet Weather Interferes With Super Stock Races

The weather had two-fold effect on the B.C. Super Stock championship races at Tillicum last weekend, as it delayed the races, then provided watchers with thrills as the cars spun out on the wet track.

Harvey Brown of Royston topped the 20-car field from the Pacific Northwest and five local entries with a time of 17.60 seconds. Jim MacMillan of Vancouver was timed at 18.12 seconds and George Cook of Delta came in at 18.15 seconds.

The slow trophy dash was run first and Bruce Georgeson took the flag ahead of Sonny Barrett of Tacoma, Wash. As Chuck Hayhurst came in for the third place flag he spun out in a complete circle.

Neil Montgomery of Victoria was the winner of the fast trophy dash, ahead of Harvey Brown, who smashed into the cement wall earlier but recovered and continued the race. MacMillan was third.

Lyle Hickson won a close battle with Pete Snirl to win the semi-mod trophy dash. Jim Cordick was third.

The first heat for the super stocks was won by Marvin Cook of Prince George, with Bruce Sigston second and Roy Nadeau third. Vancouver's Larry Lodge and Jerry Frank of Surrey spun out in complete harmony on the third corner.

Hayhurst spun out again in the second heat but again came up with a second place finish, behind Georgeson. Sonny Barrett took third. MacMillan beat out John Rothwell and Rick Goodwin of Vancouver in the third heat.

Hickson took the flag in the first heat for the semi-mods, beating Snirl and Rick Clements. The semi-mod main and feature combination was won by Snirl after a close battle with Hickson. Clements took third.

The B main race laurels went to Georgeson. Sigston and Nadeau followed him to the flag. MacMillan placed ahead of Brown and John Rothwell in the 20 lap A main race.

All local cars will be back on the track next Sunday.

The Blues Following Bowman Since St. Louis Departure

MONTREAL (CP) — The "blues" have followed Scotty Bowman ever since he left the St. Louis National Hockey League club as head coach.

"I've had a fair share of bad luck in 1971 so things have to get better," said the newly-appointed head coach of Montreal Canadiens after the latest incident.

"Guess what? I took a little trip last weekend and came home to find I had been robbed."

Thieves broke into his new home in suburban Dorval and walked away with about $4,500 worth of merchandise, including five pretty valuable watches, a color television set and my wife's fur coat.

That was the fourth stroke of bad luck since he left St. Louis.

The day he sold his house in St. Louis it caught fire. On his way to Montreal, a short circuit in his trailer frightened his wife.

Howe Shares Spotlight With Signing Of Esposito

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gordie Howe apparently has decided to retire at the athletic old age of 43.

Howe, who has scored a record 786 National Hockey League goals in the last quarter-century with Detroit Red Wings, won't say definitely he is quitting.

He said in an interview Tuesday, however, that he had made a decision on his future and will make it public at a news conference Thursday.

"Nobody other than my immediate family knows what my decision is and I'm trying to be honest with everybody and not say in advance what it is," said Howe, who was hampered last season by an arthritic left wrist and right elbow.

Disclosure of Howe's imminent retirement as a player shared the spotlight Tuesday with the signing of high-scoring centre Phil Esposito by Boston Bruins to a four-year contract worth an estimated $400,000.

The 29-year-old Esposito, who scored a record 76 goals and 159 points last season, said he would not disclose the terms of the contract other than it called for "a good deal more than a speculative figure of $333,000."

Esposito said he was "very, very happy."

NEEDS NO INCENTIVE

He added: "I never need any incentive to play hockey."

Neither did Howe in his prime. He was quoted recently as saying "hockey is no longer fun to play."

Esposito's contract is in conformity with U.S. President Nixon's wage freeze, a Bruin spokesman said.

"Maybe he didn't get an increase this year," the spokesman commented.

Esposito, who said at a news conference he's never had disagreement with Boston management since he came to the club in a trade several years ago, "got what I wanted—security."

His lawyer, Arnold Bloom, said: "Phil will have enough money to live on when he's through playing."

Although contract figures were not announced, Bloom said a report last week out of Toronto that Esposito would get $70,000 the first year, $80,000 the second year and $90,000 the third and fourth years was on the low side.

Esposito, key figure in a six-player trade with Chicago Black Hawks in 1967, was the first player in NHL history to score 100 or more points in a season, a feat he has accomplished twice. He scored 126 in 1968-69 and was named the league's most valuable player.

BROKE OWN RECORD

The next year he scored 99 points as the Bruins won the Stanley Cup and last season he broke his own record with an amazing 152 points.

Asked if the long-term contract might take away any of his incentive, Esposito replied: "Look at it this way. I'm coming off a three-year contract. The first year I scored 49 goals, the second 43 and last season I had 76."

"I give 150 per cent no matter what kind of contract I have."

With the NHL training camps scheduled to open this weekend and the first exhibition games slated Sept. 17, there were other developments in the sport Tuesday.

Defencemen Jacques Laperriere and Guy Lapointe and forward Phil Roberto signed their contracts to play again for Montreal Canadiens.

The Montreal signings left only defencemen J. C. Tremblay and Terry Harper and forward Peter Mahovlich from their 1971 Stanley Cup championship team still without contracts for the coming season.

Fireballing Blue Might Favor Lolic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Blue had plenty of time to think about the American League's Cy Young Award Tuesday night after usually light-hitting California Angels jumped on him for three first-inning runs en route to a 6-1 victory over Blues' Oakland Athletics.

"The Cy Young Award?" Blue mused.

"Maybe I'd vote for Mickey Lolich, too. He's doing better than I am now."

The young flame-throwing left-hander spent most of the game against California on the sidelines as the Angels rode Clyde Wright's six-hitter to victory.

It was Blue's fourth loss in five starts and his eighth of the season, keeping him tied with Lolich of Detroit Tigers for the most American League victories (23) and most complete games (24).

At of late, Blue's fortunes have been sinking while Lolich, 31, nine years older than the Oakland ace, has been coming on like gangbusters. Monday the Detroit workhorse caught Blue in both categories with a masterful six-hit 3-0 victory over Washington.

In other games, Kansas City Royals edged Milwaukee Brewers 4-3, Chicago White Sox topped Minnesota Twins 6-7, Baltimore Orioles beat Cleveland Indians 3-1, Detroit defeated Washington Senators 3-2 in 11 innings and Boston Red Sox routed New York Yankees 9-3.

Blue left after three innings, his earliest departure since Washington knocked him out after 1-3 innings in the first game of the season.

Amos Otis put on an outstanding individual effort for the Royals, stealing five bases to equal a feat last performed on May 27, 1964, by Dennis McGann of the old New York Giants. It still fell one short of the American League record set in 1912 by Eddie Collins of Philadelphia Athletics.

Otis also collected four singles and beat the Brewers when he scratched a two-out single in the seventh inning, swiped second, stole third, then continued home when Milwaukee catcher Darrell Porter's throw sailed into left field.

Cards' Joe Torre Confident That Pirates Will Be Caught

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Joe Torre, the National League's top batter, is confident St. Louis Cardinals will overtake Pittsburgh Pirates in the East Division race.

"This club has a lot of pride and remember, we've got five games left with the Pirates. The way we're going—who knows?"

Torre is the league's leading hitter with an average of .368 for the Cards, who have won nine of their last 12 games.

The Pirates hold a six-game lead over St. Louis, but both teams still have 19 games remaining.

Torre slammed eight hits in 11 at-bats Tuesday night as the Cardinals took a twin-night doubleheader from Philadelphia Phillies, 6-6 in 13 innings in the first game, 7-5 in 10 innings in the nightcap.

The opener was the completion of a game suspended from Aug. 1, picked up with the Cardinals leading 6-3 in the 12th.

EXPOS DOWN METS

Elsewhere, Houston Astros defeated Atlanta Braves 5-1, Montreal Expos romped to 9-3 decision over New York Mets,

San Diego Padres rallied to beat Cincinnati Reds 8-7 and Los Angeles Dodgers downed San Francisco Giants 9-3. Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

In the suspended game at Philadelphia, St. Louis led by three runs on resumption.

But the Phillies scored three runs on Larry Bowa's two-run triple and Pete Koegel's single, and it was a new ball game.

Then singles by Ted Simmons, Julian Javier, Bob Burda, Torre and Matty Alou produced three runs in the 13th, and the Cardinals had a 9-6 victory.

In the second game, the Cards were trailing 5-3 with two out in the bottom of the ninth before Jim Beauchamp reached second when Denny Doyle got a late start on his pop fly, then dropped it for an error. Lou Brock followed with a two-run single to tie the game.

The Cards took the lead in the 10th when Torre singled and Simmons tripled.

Don Wilson, 14-8, throttled Atlanta 5-1 on two hits. The Astros broke it open with four runs in the fifth, with Cesar Geronimo and Joe Morgan hitting consecutive homers.

GYMKHANA EVENT WINNER

Legend's Bert Bowles with rider Nancy Bullock won several events in the Lions annual Horse Show and Gymkhana held during the weekend at the Kelowna Riding Club. There were more than 70 events in the three-day affair, which brought competitors from many points in B.C.

Arthur Ashe Just As Good But Competition Is Lacking

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur Ashe says he's as good as he was when he won the first U.S. open tennis championship in 1968, but the competition isn't because seven top players aren't here.

"In 1968 I played so well it scared me," said the third-seeded pro from Richmond, Va., after he defeated young Australian John Alexander 6-4, 7-6, 6-4, 6-3, to enter the quarter-finals.

He could win the $30,000 top prize in this $100,000 classic, which is missing such stars as defending champion Ken Rosewall, Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, Tony Roche and Rod Laver of Australia, Andres Gimeno of Spain and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

All of them, as well as Ashe, are members of Lamar Hunt's World Championship Tennis, Inc., stable. There was speculation that they bypassed Forest Hills because of a long-standing feud between the WCT and the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association which has threatened to ban all contract pros as of Jan. 1, 1972.

"Forest Hills can't survive without us," Ashe said. "You can't hard-sell sophisticated New Yorkers, nor soft-sell them for that matter. They won't come out here to watch unknowns."

Nancy Richey Gunter, No. 7, of San Angelo, Tex., was upset by collegian Laura duPont of Charlotte, N.C., 6-6, 6-2, 6-4, in a third-round match postponed by rain Monday, while Kerry Melville, eliminated fellow Australian Judy Dalton 6-3, 7-5 in the first match of the Open between seeded players.

NABOB'S MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Quality is Nabob's middle name! If you're not completely satisfied with new Nabob Orange Flavour Crystals, Nabob Foods will refund your money.*

- 1 Every family breakfast will be sunnier when you pour new Nabob Sungold — tiny, orange flavour crystals that burst into zesty, "wake-em-up" flavour that's more like fresh orange juice than ever.
- 2 You really pour the sunshine in because new Nabob Sungold is enriched with Vitamin C. In fact, there's as much Vitamin C in Sungold as in fresh oranges, so you do right by your family's nutrition.
- 3 So convenient because Nabob Sungold comes in a fresh, bright carton with 2 pouch packages, one to make up for the "fridge", one to keep handy when everyone shouts "more".
- 4 Serve Nabob Sungold ice cold and serve it often. It's the perfect breakfast drink, but it's great for after school and after play refreshment.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

She's Overtaking Sleeping Pills

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter has been taking three, sometimes four, phenobarbital tablets a night to get to sleep. She has been doing this for about six years now.

When she gets up in the morning, she staggers out of the bedroom, her eyes are glassy and she has a terrible pain in her head. I know it's from the pills, but she says it's from the vessels swelling in her head. Would you comment on this? Maybe she'll listen to you.—Mrs. T.G.

Well, maybe she'll listen to me, but don't hold your breath waiting for her to do so. You didn't tell me the size of the tablets she is taking, which is of some significance, but regardless of that, the groggy hangovers show clearly that she is getting too much.

Sleep is important; phenobarbital, properly used, can be a helpful medication, but it also is a drug which, used to excess, can be habituating and can cause barbiturate poisoning.

People who have let themselves be ensnared by the phenobarbital habit will usually offer some sort of excuse rather than look at the facts. What can you do? Tell her doctor about this morning-after effect. He should be made aware of what is going on, and it's a fair guess that your daughter won't tell him that you further, find out, if you can, where she is getting the pills. They are a prescription item, so try to learn whether she is using an old prescription that should have expired or is using prescriptions from more than one doctor without their knowing it. Or obtaining the pills without a prescription—that happens, too.

She can be weaned from the medication, but will doubtless need the co-operation of her physician.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My granddaughter, 4, has an excessive thirst and will drink several glasses of water a day, sometimes only 20 minutes apart. Of course, she has to urinate often.

I told my daughter-in-law to have her urine tested for diabetes, but the doctor said there was no sugar in the urine. I am wondering if she could have diabetes without its showing in the urine.—Mrs. L.R.

Unlikely that she has diabetes mellitus, since in children that age diabetes comes on dramatically, sugar is in the urine, and unless treatment starts, acidosis develops.

One possibility is that she might have diabetes insipidus, which causes ravenous thirst but sugar is not involved. It is a disorder of the pituitary, although it is not a common disorder. Of course, the little girl may just like water. With the sugar test negative, you can disregard "sugar diabetes," but if, by actual measurement, she consumes more than three quarts of water a day, further examination is in order. Diabetes insipidus can be controlled successfully, and it does not affect a child's nutrition or activity as diabetes mellitus does.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is spontaneous pneumothorax and what can be done for it?—Mrs. M.

It means that a bleb in the lung has ruptured, and a lung, like a balloon, cannot hold air if even a small puncture occurs. In a word, the lung pretty much collapses. The air collects between the lung and chest wall, —the plural space.

Since the ruptures usually are small, they usually heal readily, and the lung returns to normal function. If lung collapse is extensive, decompression by inserting a tube into the pleural Point count is a marvelous guide to the number of tricks you can take, but it is far from being an infallible yardstick. Freak distribution seriously affects the general accuracy of high-card point count, and in many hands completely upsets it. This is particularly true in suit contracts.

Here is an extreme case where South got to five clubs doubled. West certainly had an excellent hand, and probably thought he would fear South apart, especially with East having bid twice. But he wound up taking five money instead.

West led a spade. Declarer took the ace, played the king and another heart, finessing the jack, and discarded a diamond on the ace of hearts.

This procession of plays set up a crossruff position, of which South proceeded to take full advantage. He ruffed a diamond, a spade, a diamond, a spade, then another diamond and another spade.

Ten tricks having been played and declarer having won them all, West was left with the A-K-10 of clubs and South with the Q-J-9. West could now score only two trump tricks, so South made five clubs doubled despite East-West's 24 high-card points. Of course, the outcome would have been altogether different had West elected to start with the A-K-10 of clubs. In that case South would have made only nine tricks.

Actually, West should have lead off with trump leads. North-South were obviously bidding on distribution, not high cards, and West should have tried to stop the impending crossruff. While it was probable that West would lose a trump trick by starting with clubs, it was even more probable that he would get the trick back with interest.

Woolliams Fails To Initiate A Study Of Security Group

OTTAWA (CP)—Elton Woolliams (PC-Calgary North) was unsuccessful Tuesday in trying to initiate a special Commons committee study of a new security group under Solicitor General Jean-Pierre Gauthier.

Mr. Woolliams, Conservative justice critic, sought an emergency debate in the group, saying the government set up "secrets and without notice" and its duties were unknown. "The RCMP has been responsible for security in Canada and the force is accountable to Parliament," Mr. Woolliams said. "But there would be no public accountability for the new group under Mr. Gauthier."

The proposal required unanimous consent of the House. When the Speaker asked whether this was forthcoming, Justice Minister John Turner shouted "agreed." But a core of "nays" from the Liberal back benches and the Woolliams motion was scrapped.

The government announced formation of the group called the security planning and research group, last month. A spokesman said it would gather and analyze information on national security from all sources and report to the cabinet. Three members from the ranks of the group, which is expected to expand to about 20,

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD SCHNEIDER
(Paul Ponich Studios)

Uncle Of Groom Conducts Rites

Baskets of pink and white gladioli formed the background for the late August wedding of Marlene Marie Kroschinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kroschinsky of Kelowna, and Harold Schneider of Fernie, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schneider of Rutland.

Rev. Gregory Schneider of Bellingham, Wash., an uncle of the groom, conducted the Aug. 27 wedding in St. Theresa's Roman Catholic Church, Rutland with Mrs. Lucille Gaudreau of Rutland presiding at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an empire gown of Chantilly lace on nylon organza over peau d'elephant. A stand-up collar, lily point sleeves and a flowing Mantilla veil edged with matching lace completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses and baby's breath.

CROSS
Something old was a crucifix cross on a chain, which was her grandmother's.

Maid-of-honor, Betty Ann Whittaker of Rutland and bridesmaids, Mrs. Andrew Walker of Kelowna and Wendy Jones of Rutland, wore empire lined gowns of pink in daisy design. Long sheer sleeves completed the full-length gowns and they carried bouquets of white carnations, baby's breath and baby pink roses.

NIECE AND NEPHEW
Flower girl, Natalie Kroschinsky, a niece of the bride, of Rutland, wore a gown identical to the bridesmaids and ring-bearer was Michael Kroschinsky, a nephew, of Rutland.

The groom's attendants, all of Rutland were, best man, Allan Lesko; ushers, David Kroschinsky and Raymond Volk; groomsmen, Gordon Ivens and Gary Zarr.

For the reception which followed in the Rutland Centennial hall the bride's mother received the guests wearing a yellow tulle dress accented with orange feathered carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a three toned green tulle dress with green feathered carnations forming her corsage.

Master of ceremonies was Fred Rieger and Al Schermann proposed the toast to the bride. Allan Lesko toasted the bridesmaids.

A white lace tablecloth made by Mrs. Ernie Kroschinsky was most effectively placed over a pink cloth. Pink candles completed the decor.

For her going away outfit the bride wore a pant suit of navy blue slacks topped with red, white and blue hooded jacket. Candy striped carnations formed her corsage and white accessories completed her outfit.

After a honeymoon at Seattle and Vancouver the couple will make their home at Suite 101, 292 2nd Ave., Fernie, B.C.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kusz and children, Kevin, Kathy, Colleen, all of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Ruesch of Chilliwack; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mallach of Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kroschinsky, Kevin and Diane all of Cold Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Meyer of Coquitlam and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Zimmer of Vancouver.

Two New Rutland Schools To Be Finished This Year

Two new schools have been under construction in the Rutland district for some time. One of these, a four-room school in the newly subdivided area west of the Belgo Road, is to be opened officially on Sept. 17. This school will accommodate pupils from grades one to four, and will be officially named the "Belgo School." The principal of the South Rutland School, E. W. Gundrum, will also have supervision over this new school.

Due to be finished by the end of this year is a senior secondary school being constructed on a 10-acre extension to the present senior secondary school reverting to the status of a junior secondary school, and should bring an end to the present shift system.

It is also hoped that a technical wing will be eventually added and an art room, with federal and provincial co-operation, in a year or so.

Legion Ladies Meet In Winfield

Row Splits Nipissing Over School Languages

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — French- and English-language high schools. The board, which had previously decided against such a move, turned down the proposal.

Earlier Tuesday, students favoring establishment of separate facilities launched a strike and fewer than 500 students entered the secondary school to register for the fall term. An enrolment of up to 1,800 had been expected.

French-Canadian students waved placards and picketed entrances to the high school, site of three previous strikes.

The students, urging creation of a separate French-language high school in the community of 7,000, distributed French placards to other students, which translated said:

We want our school. Death to the board. Yes sir, it's war.

Nixon Drives Economy Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is setting out immediately and in person to campaign in Congress for approval of the tax cuts built into his new economic policy.

Congress reconvened today to deal with business left behind for a month's recess, and to begin work on the new economic package.

The president arranged to appear before a joint session of House of Representatives and Senate at 12:30 p.m. EDT Thursday to urge approval of his plan to combat inflation and unemployment. The address will be carried live on radio and television.

The first session of the 92nd Congress was faced with a substantial workload even before Nixon recommended a series of tax measures on Aug. 15, when he announced his 90-day freeze on wages and prices.

Now the economic package, and the response of Democrats who control Congress, is sure to be a dominant issue in the balance of a session likely to run into rough water.

STARTS HEARINGS

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was the first witness as the House ways and means committee opened hearings on the Nixon program, which includes a 10-per-cent business investment tax credit, repeal of the seven-per-cent business investment tax credit, repeal of the seven-per-cent excise tax on new automobiles, and a speedup to Jan. 1, 1972, for a $50 increase in personal income-tax exemptions.

Democrats in both Senate and House are sure to work some changes in the tax proposals before a bill is passed.

Representative Wilber D. Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the ways and means committee, may seek revisions to offer more tax relief to lower-income Americans.

Japan Okays Capital Link Up With Car Companies In U.S.

TOKYO (Reuters) — The Japanese government formally authorized today a capital link-up agreement between the Isuzu Motors Co. and General Motors of the United States.

This was the second Japan-U.S. joint undertaking for car production, following a similar agreement between Chrysler and the Mitsubishi Motor Corp., approved in June.

Japan's foreign investment council approved the Isuzu-GM plan, which gives the U.S. firm a 34.2-per-cent interest in the Japanese firm.

Torao Aramaki, president of Isuzu, said at a news conference that the American firm will invest about $60 million by the end of this month.

Aramaki said Isuzu's production will be increased from the present 12,000 units a month to 50,000 units within five years.

MARKET THROUGH GM
Aramaki said 70 per cent of total production would be marketed in 146 countries through GM's sales network.

He said Isuzu is scheduled to export 1,000 cars a month initially from next October.

Exports will increase to 21,000 units for the November-April period and further to more than 60,000 units for the following six months.

The joint undertaking also will assemble in Japan a GM sedan. The model will be decided within a few months, he said.

He also said a new joint venture will be formed this year to produce and market transmissions for big trucks by four firms including Isuzu and GM. The two other firms are Japan's Kawasaki Industries and C. Itoh and Co., he said.

Man With Gun Remanded

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thomas Robinson, 31, charged with attempted murder after a man fired about 12 shots at police early Sunday, appeared Tuesday in provincial court and was remanded for one week.

Judge William Selbie ordered a psychiatric examination for Robinson, who was also charged with three other counts involving firearms.

Police were called to a residential area of south Vancouver late Saturday night after a man threatened to commit suicide. When they arrived, the man began shooting from inside his house.

Police did not return the fire, and eventually drove the man out some two hours later with tear gas. There were no injuries.
